TEN CENTS PER WEEK

DROUGHT ALONG OHIO VALLEY BUT NO HARD TIMES

Farmers See High Prices in Store For Scarce Commodities.

Seven Weeks Since Rain Visited Kentucky.

PASTURES SUFFER GREATEST

Mount Vernon, O., Sept. 22.—At the train rolled along the fire swept right of way the length of Kentucky and the breadth of Ohio, the question on the lips of the passengers going out at the dead brown pasture fields and the dull landscape, whence the glory of the summer days has departed, is "How long since it has rained here?"

"Seven weeks," The natives are keeping tally and know it by heart. Redwoods have been burning dry grass back to the fences, but in many places forest and miniature prairie fires have left their traces, and some are still burning dangerously.

The knob country between Louisville and Paducah on the L. & N. per haps is the most desolate region outside "Death Valley." There the honey cattle tramping the thin sods, sheep actually kick up little clouds of dust. It was while scanning the dreary waste to gather myself whether the drought or not a fire had devastated the fields, that I turned to a fellow traveler with the current comment about the weather.

"Dry?" he returned, "Two years ago crops of stacked cattle lying on the range of New Mexico, under a sun so hot you'd think the meat would cook before it began to stink. The Sonoran country was parched until the earth cracked and then it rained torrents. For days and days it rained and the floods did as much damage as the drought. Now it's dry again and the pasture is gone. They haven't got any grass or grain either in the southwest so they are selling their Hereford heifers. That means cattle will be scarce again next year and the price will go out of sight."

"I've got a brother in Washington and he says the grain in the north-west is burned up."

In the limestone underland blue grass and the fertile bottom lands of Ohio the situation is better. The corn crop is unusually early and much of it is cut; but the fall pasture is lacking, excepting where nature has been extraordinarily bountiful in resources. Fall plowing is impossible where furrows fall over in long dry ridges. That may delay winter wheat until an early cold snap can cut it off at the tender roots.

But the farmer, so helplessly the creature of Providence is always a pessimist or an optimist, and he is forecasting possibilities, not actualities. Whatever the future may have in store for him an indignant Providence has spared him from the threatened crash to save the nation. If his corn crop is cut short, he anticipates a bullish market from the shortage and the lack of fall pasture will send the price of stock skyward for the third time. There are no hard times in agricultural Ohio and Kentucky where the farmer's crop is not cut off at the tender roots.

Tea Company Changes Managers. Mr. F. V. Seftie, who has been local representative of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, left today with his family for Louisville. T. F. Roberts succeeds Mr. Seftie as manager of the company's business here.

INSANE MAN KILLS HOSPITAL PATIENTS. Washington, Sept. 22.—Andrew Lightfoot, a inmate patient in the government insane hospital, became suddenly crazed and killed Patrick Maloney, Margaret Patton and other patients with a crowbar. He escaped into the woods and guards are hunting him.

BEDFORD IND. HAS NEW MURDER SENSATION. Bedford, Ind., Sept. 22.—A sensation was caused here through the discovery of the body of a murdered woman a few yards from the spot where Sarah Schafer, a pretty school teacher, was murdered five years ago. The face was disfigured with a blunt weapon as in the Schafer case, which was never solved. The body is unidentified.

Foraker Conspired With Moneyed Interests to Discredit Administration Says President Roosevelt

Writes Letter in Which He Scores Ohio Senator—Hearst Charges Basis of Letter made Public Yesterday.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 22.—Late yesterday Secretary Loeb gave out a formal statement by the president which was called forth by the recent exchanges between Hearst and Foraker. In public utterances, had accused the senator of treachery with the Standard Oil company, inconsistent with his duties as senator and his attitude as a representative of the Republican policy and profession.

In his statement President Roosevelt made another appeal for the support of Taft. The statement embodies a letter written by Taft to a friend in Ohio on July 20, 1907, in which the present Republican candidate for the presidency refused to acquiesce in a plan of the Ohio state central committee to endorse Taft for the presidency and Foraker for the senate in a single resolution. The president points out that Taft's attitude has always been directly opposed to that charged against Foraker by Hearst regarding moneyed interests. The president cites the Brownsville affair as a case where the senator was a phase of the effort "by the representative of certain law-defying corporations to bring discredit upon the administration." "It was," he says, "in a large part not a genuine agitation on behalf of the colored men at all."

The president says in the statement after referring to the proposition of the Ohio state central committee to endorse Taft for president and Foraker for senator: "I personally know that the strongest pressure brought to bear on Taft at the time of his consent to the proposed arrangement, and he was informed by leading men from other states that if he would consent to the arrangement all opposition on the part of Foraker, and on the part of some of Foraker's influential friends in the senate and elsewhere, would cease, and that Taft's nomination for the presidency would be assured."

But Taft declined for one moment to consider any possible advantage to himself where what he regarded as a great principle was at stake. His attitude on this question, as well as on almost all questions, convinced me that of all men in this union, he was the man pre-eminently fit in point of uprightness and character of fearless and aggressive honesty and of fitness for the duties of the office of the president."

"Foraker has been a leader among these members of congress of both parties who have resolutely opposed the great policies of internal reform for which the administration has made itself responsible. His attitude

WOMAN SHOT FIGHTING POSSE. Wounded Fourteen Times in Battle With Sheriff's Men in Arkansas. West Plains, Mo., Sept. 22.—John Roberts and his wife today resisted a sheriff's posse in a desperate battle near Preston, one mile south of the Missouri-Arkansas line, when the officers attempted to arrest Roberts for killing Ote Kessler, a neighbor. The woman was shot fourteen times and Sheriff Mooney, of Baxter county, Arkansas, was mortally wounded. Roberts and two members of the posse—Max Lowery and his son—are seriously hurt.

Roberts went to Kessler's home late last evening, called his victim to the door, fired deliberately and killed him.

Sheriff Mooney called several deputies and started to arrest Roberts. The posse was aided by the woman, but when the sheriff continued to advance both she and her husband opened fire.

Mooney was shot by the woman. He fell disoriented his deputies for a few minutes, and Roberts and his wife barricaded the house. They defended the building for hours. When the firing from within ceased the door was broken down.

Miss Roberts, suffering from fourteen wounds, was dying and her condition was such that no attempt was made to remove her to jail.

Scarlet Fever at Dawson. Princeton, Ky., Sept. 22.—Dawson has a scarlet fever scare which has closed the schools and scattered the parents with children who have been visiting at the spa. Under orders the children are forbidden the streets and all assemblies of any kind and all character.

Praying Lobbyist. Indianapolis, Sept. 22.—A dozen special trains brought hundreds of local sports enthusiasts here today to lobby in favor of their bill. Praying and sitting at the state house was continued. The Anti-Slavery League is leading the agitation. The senate recommended the bill's passage by a vote of thirty-five to fourteen, but the danger is in the house. Local option bears charge that brewers are keeping several legislators drunk so they can answer the roll call.

Light Cars Detailed. Two cars were in store for the freight crew at the Union station last night. Early in the night two freight cars jumped the track near the water tank and the track was derailed until the wheels were replaced. To rap the climax, another car jumped the track in front of the Union station on the morning. It took several hours to repair the tracks. Traffic was not delayed as the passenger trains went in on the second track.

PADUCAH HORSEMEN BY NEW REXNER. "Enter Light," a short distance runner, has been purchased by Baker & McElroy for their string of runners. With Enter Light and Fore piece they will enter in races on the Missouri circuit. Enter Light was purchased from W. M. Smith, of Lexington, Mo., and is a good horse. Fore piece has kept up his winning streak.

FARMERS UNION INVADERS CALDWELL COUNTY. Princeton, Ky., Sept. 22. (Special).—Caldwell county was organized into the Farmers' Union today at a meeting held here. Speeches were made by the Rev. Robert Johnson, president of the state organization, W. L. Barrett, state organizer from Paducah, and W. B. Evans. The meeting was well attended. Tomorrow the same speakers will go to Caldwell and Trigg county will be organized.

WANT TO MARRY, GIRLS?—GET POSITION IN PADUCAH CITY SCHOOLS. Night of Last Year's Teachers Have Married: Announcement of Two Others Expected. Paducah's public school system is in active matrimonial agency, or at least Dan Cupid is fond of shooting his love arrows at the hearts of the school teachers. Eight teachers of last year's corps have entered the life of eternal bliss, while there are whispers that two other teachers, who taught last year, shortly will announce their marriages. It behooves the old maids to get positions as teachers and then in a short time they will discard the curls and cat.

Early last year Miss Eleanor Wright resigned her position and was married, but the school's were not notified by cupid any more until question, when six teachers gave up the school desk. Miss Carrie B. Y. has married before school had dismissed, but the announcement was not made until June. Miss Andrew Taylor and Miss Claire St. John became brides early in the summer. Miss Marie Wilcox and Prof. Charles H. Shreve, both teachers, were married last month, which added two to the married list. One colored teacher was married, which makes the number seven. Last night Miss Edna Hooks, who was stenographer for Superintendent Carnegie last year, was married, which is the latest. Two more marriages are promised within two months, which will make ten marriages from the teachers' corps. In the schools there are 84 regular teachers, and with ten marriages it is a shave less than ten per cent. Superintendent Carnegie was found puzzling over this percentage this morning, but with his characteristic optimism he said he could find new teachers as fast as the regular teachers could marry.

HASKELL MUST CLEAR SKIRTS OR RESIGN

Democratic Candidate Aroused Over Hearst's Standard Oil Charges.

Republicans Trace Every Act of Haskell's Life.

Exposure Hurts Democrats Most. Detroit, Sept. 22.—Bryan was greatly angered at Roosevelt's declaration that all "legal combinations" are supporting him. He announced that he will reply later and show in detail where Roosevelt is wrong. Bryan is aroused by Hearst's charges against Haskell. He insists that the latter must "clear his skirts" or resign. It is expected Bryan will soon issue a statement on the subject.

WANT TAFT IN ALABAMA. Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 22.—Secretary J. Stanfield, of the Alabama Republican campaign committee, had a telegram from Frank Hitchcock stating that an effort will be made to allow Mr. Taft one day in Alabama for two speeches, one at Birmingham and the other at Montgomery.

Alabama leaders argue that this will require only one day, and can be made from Nashville during his Tennessee trip.

Phillips Gets His. Louisville, Sept. 22.—Hon. Phillips, a friend of Governor Beckham, has been forced out as secretary of the Democratic campaign committee on account of the fact the liquor men refused to contribute to the campaign fund while he was secretary.

BISHOP'S SON ARRESTED. T. C. Duncan Charged With Obtaining Money by Misrepresentation. Union, S. C., Sept. 22.—Thomas C. Duncan was arrested here today, charged with fraud and obtaining money by misrepresentation to the amount of about eight thousand dollars. The charge was made by the receivers of the People's bank of this city, which several months ago went into voluntary liquidation, and relates to certain checks and drafts on the bank of Spring City, Tenn., paid by the People's bank, but was turned down by the Spring City bank, as Duncan had no funds on deposit. He was released on bond.

Duncan is the son of the late Bishop Duncan.

President's Vacation Ended. Oyster Bay, Sept. 22.—President Roosevelt concluded his vacation and started to Washington today. Three special cars carried the party. A huge crowd at the station cheered the party. The president made a rear-end platform speech of farewell. The press was great and Roosevelt warned the people back, feeling the women would be injured. The emblem of the chief executive was lowered from Sagamore Hill flagpole never to be hoisted again unless Roosevelt is re-elected president.

Sprinklers Busy. Paducah water wagons are being kept busy sprinkling the dusty streets caused by the long drought. The city will have a large portion of the streets watered every day during the dry spell, as the streets are being ruined. The dust accumulates rapidly and holes are torn in the streets by the heavy traffic.

Residents in the city are getting busy and sprinkling the streets in front of their homes. Not only are the city people praying for rain but the county residents as well. The drought has been a death-blow to the crops and farmers would be more pleased to see a hard rain than anything else.

Mayfield Races. Friday one of the best races in the state outside of Lexington and Louisville will be pulled off at the Mayfield fair. It is the Derby with the running distance at one and one-eighth miles and a purse of $500 is being up for the winner. Another $300 purse and two $125 purses have been hung up for the same day. Many Paducahans want to attend these races but the railroad connections are inconvenient to attend the races. Thursday a special train will be run to Mayfield for the benefit of horse admirers of Paducah, but on this day a strong program is not offered. The sports consider it unfortunate that the railroad did not charge the excursion until Friday so that a large Paducah crowd might see the Derby race.

Sanford Hall and Wiley Stewart on Witness Stand at Clarksville, Explain the Night Rider Workings

Testimony Excluded From the Jury But Will be Passed on by Supreme Court of Tennessee.

Clarksville, Tenn., Sept. 22.—The alleged night riders' conspiracy, with all its secrets, signs, signals, passwords, etc., was laid bare today for the first time to a Tennessee court when four confessed night riders from Marshall, Caldwell and Callaway counties, Kentucky, were put on the stand by the defense in the Gardner-Hunt trial.

The jury was not allowed to hear the testimony, and the defense only introduced it in order to complete the record. The connection with the case was made when several of the night riders stated that then, Amos, the head of the night rider clan, now said to be in hiding, had received information of the killing the afternoon after it occurred and that he communicated to several lodges the fact that one of the brothers had been killed, several wounded and two horses killed.

It was also stated that he had planned to raid Clarksville, and one of the witnesses testified that he had twice been collected by the captain of his lodge to join in a raid on this place, it being planned to bring a thousand men from his section to do the work.

The proposed raid fell through, according to testimony, on account of the fact that surrounding rivers and the close guard on the few accessible roads made it almost impossible to get in when a strong effort was made to prevent. The testimony introduced along this line was by far the most thrilling and sensational yet brought out in the trial.

First Witness of Day. The first witness was Sanford Hall, who said he knew of the existence of a night rider organization on or prior to March 8, 1908; said it was under the direction of one man, Dr. Amos, who was called general, and that it was organized in support of the association. Dr. Amos lives at Cobb, Caldwell county, and witnesses lived in Lyon county, Kentucky. Lodges were organized in the different counties in the tobacco district, ten or twelve members being necessary to compose a lodge. Witnesses knew such organizations existed in the different counties. He became a member five months ago. Witnesses said the general had control of all the lodges through the tobacco district, and it was organized to compel men to join the association. Witnesses produced the night riders' oath which was administered to him, and is as follows:

Night Riders' Oath Read. "Night riders' oath: 'I, _____, in the presence of Almighty God and these witnesses, take upon myself these solemn pledges and obligations that I will never reveal any of the secrets, signs or passwords of this order, either by word or writing, to any person or persons who are not enrolled in this organization.'"

Looking For Relatives. Mrs. C. C. Dolan, of Oklahoma, formerly Miss Jule Althea Reeves, is in Paducah searching for relatives of her father, James Daniel Reeves, who died in 1891 while United States deputy marshal, stationed at Paul's Valley, Oklahoma. Mr. Reeves had two sisters living in Paducah at the time of his death.

Unionville Beats Brookport. Unionville cleaned up with Brookport Sunday by a score of 13 to 4. Glass pitched for the winners while George Block caught. Leo Hart twirled for Brookport, and was caught by Queen. Hart pitched nice ball, but was not supported properly. George Block caught a nice game and out of six times hit but got four safe deliveries, one a homer, two two sackers and one single.

English and Greeks in Race War. Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 22.—In a race war between citizens and Greeks the former wrecked a Greek restaurant, chaining the waiters insulted by attacking E. H. Durham, a theatrical man and started fresh troubles in which other Greek stores were demolished. Business men swear they will drive the Greeks from the city.

THE BOND ISSUE QUESTION WILL GO ON BALLOTS

Motion to That Effect Carried at Meeting of School Board Last Night.

City Will be Thoroughly Organized by Advocates.

Had all the voters in the city attended the special meeting of the school board last night and lobbied the enthusiasm, there is no doubt but what the $100,000 bond issue for the public schools would pass without a dissenting vote. Present at the meeting of representative citizens including a lively sprinkling of women interested in civic life, and school children. As a result of the meeting it was decided to organize the city thoroughly, and to ascertain the general opinion of the voters. This will be done under the direction of the educational committee of the Women's club, with committees in every ward, and then sub-committees in every precinct so that the work may be divided evenly and the exact conditions sounded carefully.

There is no doubt that the election on the bond issue will be held, and the only point is with it carry? Trustee W. J. Hills made the motion last night that Sheriff John W. Ogilvie be ordered to place the $100,000 bond issue on the ballots that will be used in November.

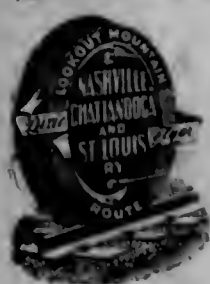

Hon. Charles K. Wheeler was present and in a clear speech set forth the conditions and the plans to meet the issue by a thorough organization. Mr. Wheeler thought that it was necessary to have the hearty co-operation of the city administration, and he said if the condition was set forth clearly there was no doubt but what any reasonable man would be made to realize the need of the bond issue. For the success of the campaign it will take money or organization, and as the funds of the board are not in the big figures it will be necessary to have an organization and enlist the aid of the Women's club, which has been offered. Mr. Wheeler's plan was this for the women to canvass the city thoroughly, and see every voter as often as necessary to get him to vote the right way. The educational committee of the Women's club should be the executive committee, and then a committee should be appointed for every ward in the city. In turn the ward committees should look after the prospects, and organize a sub-committee REQUEST FOR SUPPORT OF CAT. Women's Writ Provides Fund to Care for Pet She Leaves Behind. Washington, Sept. 22.—Attorney General Bonaparte filed for probate a will containing a bequest of $100 for the support of a cat. The document disposes of the estate of Miss Rebecca R. Williams, of Baltimore, valued at $25,000. "Toddie," as the cat is named, is mentioned in the will and is to be placed in the care of either two persons mentioned in the paper. In setting aside $100, the testator declares that she desires to reimburse whoever cares for "Toddie" for any expense incurred in the kindly treatment of my said pet cat." Miss Williams' entire estate, after the death of her sister, is to go to Christ Episcopal church of Baltimore.

EAGLE WOUNDED

While It Was Trying to Carry Off a Three-Year-Old Girl.

New York, Sept. 22. — While Blanche Cribler, three years old, the daughter of Fred Cribler, of Helmetta, N. J., was at play near her home a large eagle swooped down and attempted to carry the child away.

Cribler, who was working near by, fought off the bird, and as it attempted to fly away his brother, who had come up with a shotgun, fired and wounded the eagle. Its capture then was an easy matter.

The child was found to be uninjured except a few scratches.

TART PLEASED WITH MANAGEMENT

Of Hitchcock and the Party Leaders.

Denied Emphatically That Change Will Be Made in Conduct of National Campaign.

HITCHCOCK'S WORK EFFECTIVE.

Chicago, Sept. 22. — Stories to the effect that there has been or is to be a change in the management of the Republican national campaign appear to be without the slightest foundation. The United Press has caused inquiries to be made in every place that could be expected to supply reliable information on the subject, and it is declared that the campaign is being conducted along the lines originally planned, and that the program will continue without alteration.

Funds Come in Slowly.

Apparently, the story that there is to be a change in the management of the campaign, and that Chairman Hitchcock is to be subordinated in authority, originated from the announcement that Senator Crane would visit the western headquarters in this city. The truth of the matter is that Senator Crane arrived in Chicago today because he was requested by Mr. Hitchcock to meet him here at this time. The real purpose of senator's visit is the financial end of the campaign work. Senator Crane is a member of the advisory committee to consider ways and means. Funds for campaign purposes have been coming up slowly from the west and middle west region, and Senator Crane was asked to visit Chicago and confer with Fred W. Upham, the assistant treasurer of the national committee. At the same time Mr. Hitchcock desired to meet him in conference, as he has met him several times in the past, to consider phases of the campaign work.

State Quarrels.

Chairman Hitchcock arrived in Chicago at 8:30 o'clock today and went to the Auditorium Annex, where he met a number of men identified with the management of the western campaign. Ever since the campaign opened Mr. Hitchcock has been confronted with complaints that there has not been sufficient activity. These criticisms have been difficult to meet, for the reason, he said, that he could not take the people into his confidence concerning all matters being handled at national headquarters. It has been Mr. Hitchcock's belief that nothing could be accomplished by pouring into a state ammunition directed at the national campaign when there is a conflict going on in the state over some local issue that entirely overshadowed the national issue. Practically all of Mr. Hitchcock's advisers agreed that it would be the proper policy to settle these state quarrels before opening the national campaign.

Judge Taft today sent the following telegram to Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the Republican national committee at Chicago, and made it public here:

"Do not be disturbed by publications with reference to your management of the campaign or statements of an intent to supplant you in control. The presence of Senator Crane here gave rise to inferences which I attempted to deprecate. I have every confidence in you and in the success of your management, and I welcome the assistance as you do of Senator Crane and of the auxiliary committee, but you are in supreme control. (Signed)

"WM. H. TAFT."

TAFT PLEASED.

Regards Hitchcock's Work As Efficient and Effective.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 22. — The adjustment of the Foraker situation, the departure of Senator Crane for Chicago and the absence of any important political callers today leaves Candidate Taft an opportunity which he declared he should make the most of to work further on his speeches for the forthcoming trip. He will spend little, if any, time at his offices today.

It was reiterated here today that the calling of the executive and advisory committees of the Republican national committee into greater activity meant simply that these committees would arise to the greater amount of work to be done and for which they were called into existence.

Judge Taft has again emphasized what he has been free to state previously that he has no criticism to make of Mr. Hitchcock, but regards the work done by the national chairman as efficient and effective. It has been stated positively here that no change is to be made either in Mr. Hitchcock's work or his status.

Cut It Short.

A word to you, campaigner. Heed it, you'll be the winner. And thus avoid your audience's levity.

And likewise each request Or "Sit down," "Give us a rest!" When you are speaking, sir, that word is brevity.

SCHOOL GIRLS

Most of our ambitious young American girls work too hard at school.

Many teachers have little or no judgment about pushing a child beyond her endurance. They ought to know that girls especially have a danger period. Often, too often, after physical collapse is the result, and it takes years and years to recover lost vitality.

Many a young girl has been helped over this critical period, and been prepared for a healthy womanhood by

THE ANT.

Facts About One of Nature's Most Industrious Creatures.

When spring comes with all its wealth of opening buds and new flowers, the ant is preparing for a season of profitable industry.

It comes out of its winter quarters and locates a new home where it can store away, during the summer months, the sustenance for the long winter days.

Just as industrious as the ant—but in a different way, are the countless infinitesimal germs which burrow into the scalp and eat away at the roots of the hair.

As they hurry away dandruff forms, and if the germs are not all killed, badness results.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known remedy which kills the germs.

OIL TANK ACTION AGAIN DEFERRED

Council Playing Game of Wait and Do Nothing.

Tarvia, New Paving Material, Will Be Given Fair Test on North Tenth Street.

STREET FUNDS ARE EXHAUSTED

Tarvia will be given a good test as to its wearing qualities on Tenth street between Broadway and Kentucky avenue, as was decided at last night's council meeting. For the last 15 or 18 years it has been a question with city officials whether or not it would be advisable to use some form of tar on the streets, and at last they have decided to give tarvia a try-out. Tarvia has proved successful as an improved material for street building in a number of different places. The one of most note is at Jackson, Tenn., where the government took up the work to give tarvia a trial and put down several miles of tarvia on the roads. It has proved a great success according to government reports. Tarvia is the cheapest of all improved material for street improvement purposes. Instead of using bitulithic around the fountain at Tenth street tarvia will be used. The city engineer was ordered to take measurements and get the exact number of feet to be covered with tarvia, so that the order could be sent in for the correct amount of material. The manufacturers of tarvia will send a man to Paducah to superintend the work and see that it is put down correctly. Now if tarvia proves a success on Tenth street, it will be put down on a number of other streets when improvement is needed.

The ordinance regulating the storage in the city limits of all was referred back to the ordinance committee on motion of Member Foreman for revision. By revising the ordinance that has already been drawn up, Member Foreman thought that an ordinance could be drawn up so that the Standard Oil company could protect their tanks with a concrete wall or in some similar manner and in this way the ordinance would be satisfactory to all parties concerned. No action can now be taken about moving the tanks of the Standard Oil company from Tenth and Monroe streets to outside the city limits until the next meeting of the council, which will be October 5.

A message from Mayor Smith was read before the council, asking that no more ordinances be passed for street improvements, unless absolutely necessary. In the message the mayor gave figures showing that the money appropriated for street improvements had been used and if more improvements were made the city would have to go in debt for it until next year, when another appropriation would be made for street improvements. Member Van Meter moved that the message be received and read and that the board hear in mind what the mayor had called to their attention.

A petition from property owners asking that the water mains be extended on Powell street from Hays avenue to Ashcraft avenue and from Ashcraft avenue to Sewell street was referred to the water committee. All the property owners said they would connect with the water mains.

The water company reported the water mains on Broadway from Twenty-first street to Twenty-fourth street completed, and that three water plugs were put in and that the water mains on Guthrie avenue were completed and five water plugs were put in. The plugs were placed on the rental list and the report was received and filed.

The mayor was authorized to sign the petition to grant a narrow strip of land to be used for road purposes from the Boswell road to the Hinkleville road with residents owning the adjoining property. The road will be of much value to the farmers of that neighborhood and the city will not lose anything in the deal. The property owners have agreed to give a strip of land for half the road and it was up to the city to give the rest.

Jackson street was ordered opened as far as one square to the other side of Guthrie avenue. The city will take the land for the road by purchase, condemnation or otherwise, just as the city sees fit. Property this side of Guthrie avenue has already been granted to the city for the opening of Jackson street. The opening of Jackson street will be of much benefit to the city as well as to the property owners, for it will give the property in that part of the city a higher valuation, which has heretofore been worth very little.

The question of opening Broad street from Cross creek to the Mayfield road was laid aside until next year. It would require the building of a bridge across the creek and making a large fill would be necessary and the city has not the money to do this.

Accounts to the amount of $6,570.55 were allowed.

The Rubber Grip Handle company asked the council that they be released from taxation for five years because it was a new concern and was just getting a start. The petition was referred to the city collector.

FRANK M. FISHER

PROMINENT IN CONVENTION AT CHATTANOOGA.

Says Kentucky Republicans Are United and Active and Will Win.

Frank M. Fisher, postmaster at Paducah, Ky., and editor of the Paducah Sun, is a popular delegate present at the convention, says the Chattanooga Evening News. Speaking to a News man about Kentucky politics, Chattanooga and the Hotel Patten, the genial postmaster and brilliant editor from Paducah said:

"Kentucky will give Taft a majority of from five to ten thousand. The Republicans have control of all the cities of the first and second class in the state, with the exception of Lexington, and have a splendid organization in the state. They are united and active. The Democrats have a poor organization and don't seem to be able to arouse any enthusiasm. Mr. Taft is very popular in Kentucky, and especially in this the case with the attorneys, many of whom have practiced law before him and appreciate his exceptional ability."

"Senator Bradley and all the Fairbanks leaders are in line and working hard for the success of the ticket. The colored vote of the state will be sold for Taft."

"I am delighted with Chattanooga and the splendid reception we have received. Your Hotel Patten is something for all your citizens to be proud of. I am glad we selected Chattanooga, as it brings together old soldiers of both sides and serves to obliterate sectional lines, something to be desired by all citizens of our great country."

Mr. Fisher was a member of the committee on nominations.

"THE PALE GIRL"

Did Not Know Coffee Was the Cause.

In cold weather some people think a cup of hot coffee good to help keep warm. So it is—for a short time but the drug—caffeine—acts on the heart to weaken the circulation and the reaction is to cause more chilliness.

There is a hot wholesome drink which a Dak girl found after a time, makes the blood warm and the heart strong.

She says:

"Having lived for five years in N. Dak., I have used considerable coffee owing to the cold climate. As a result I had a dull headache regularly, suffered from indigestion, and had no 'life' in me."

"I was known as 'the pale girl' and people thought I was just weakly. After a time I had heart trouble and became very nervous, never knew what it was to be real well. Took medicine but it never seemed to do any good."

"Since being married my husband and I both have thought coffee was harming us and we would quit, only to begin again, although we felt it was the same as poison to us."

"Then we read some Postum. Well, the effect was really wonderful. My complexion is clear now, headache gone, and I have a great deal of energy. I had never known while drinking coffee."

"I haven't been troubled with indigestion since using Postum, am not nervous, and need no medicine. We have a little girl and boy who both love Postum and thrive on it and love Nuts."

"There's a Reason."

FRESHMEN FIRST CLASS TO ORGANIZE

Met Yesterday and Select Their Officers.

High School Football Squad Working Hard and Will Be in Fine Fighting Trim.

THE GIRLS PLAY BASKET BALL.

The freshmen of the High school stole a march on their upper class men yesterday when the "green" class was the first to perfect a class organization. The officers of the class elected were: Sarah Corbett, president; Christie Koch, vice-president; Fred Foster, treasurer, and Fain King, secretary. The class appointed a committee to select a design for a class pin and a pendant will be purchased and hung in the auditorium.

Just 23 men were on yesterday afternoon as the football squad for the High school. The new suits, stockings and jerseys have arrived and the candidates for positions have become hardened to the bumps. Prof. W. A. Evans, the coach, was well pleased with the results, and a sport scrimmage was had between the men. A game will be played Saturday by the High school. Madisonville may be secured, but if that school can not be secured there will be a game between the scrubs and the reserves. The team will average about 150 pounds, but in good team work and speed the High school ends expect to eclipse heavier opponents. Enthusiasm in the High school athletics is unbounded.

The girls of the High school held a meeting yesterday and decided to begin basketball practice and secure games with out-of-town High school teams. The girls have a balance of $40 from last year's games and are prepared financially to get a good basketball team.

BOND ISSUE

fer active work. In this way the city could be covered and without the burden of the work distributed.

Enlist Aid of Negroes.

Mr. Wheeler thought it imperative that the negro women should be enlisted in the work, as the negro vote is needed to carry the issue. He suggested to have the colored teachers as the leaders in the work, and see every voter. Shortly before the election Mr. Wheeler said speeches must be made in every ward setting forth the exact conditions and let the issue win the approval of the voters by convincing them that the bond issue did not mean a heavier taxation, but that the schools receive 10 cents more on the hundred dollars worth of property while the city lost the ten cents.

Mr. Earl Palmer, president of the Commercial club, responded with a short speech in which he concurred in the need of an organization and expressed confidence in the women. Mr. Palmer said that the need of the bond issue had been out of regular conditions, and that for its approval at the election a campaign with force and organization was needed. "Ah of the business men will support the issue," said Mr. Palmer, "for it is nothing more than when a business man needs money and borrows funds, which he pays back when times are more prosperous. The voters may save $100,000 by not voting for the issue, but it will be at a terrible cost."

Another point of Mr. Palmer's was that the aid of the school teachers could certainly be enlisted.

Mrs. W. J. Hill gave some of her observations made while in the north this summer. She said the schools of Michigan were fine, and that Paducah had no reason for not approaching the same plane. In Ann Arbor, a city of 16,000 population, $200,000 worth of school bonds were voted by the people, although the board had $200,000 in its treasury.

Where Money Is Needed.

Secretary C. G. Kelly responded to a query where the money was needed and said that the Lee building was condemned and new building was imperative, and a new building was needed near Fountain avenue or farther west to drain the city of children in the western additions, as the High school building is overcrowded now. A new colored building is needed, and many improvements must be made.

Trustee Hills rose and offered the following motion that was passed unanimously: "I move that the Woman's club be asked to aid us in the work."

Superintendent J. A. Carnegie considered that the city administration would be hostile to the movement. Another suggestion of Prof. Carnegie was the setting forth to the voter that it did not mean an increase in taxes, but that instead of the school board receiving 35 cents it would receive 45 cents while the city administration would receive $1.40 instead of $1.50. The tax rate of $1.85 is in force and it cannot be raised. Superintendent Carnegie related the overcrowded condition of the rooms and stated that there were teachers with

FORAKER CONSPIRED

has been that of certain other public men, notably (as shown in this same correspondence published by Hearst) Governor Haskell, of Oklahoma. There is a striking difference in one respect, however, in the present position of Haskell and Foraker. Haskell stands high in the councils of Bryan and is treasurer of his national campaign committee. Foraker represents only the forces which in an embittered fashion fought the name of Taft and which were defeated by deprived of power within the Republican party when Taft was nominated. The publication of this correspondence not merely justifies in a striking fashion the action of the administration but also casts a curious sidelight on the attacks made upon the administration both in the Denver convention which nominated Bryan and in the course of Bryan's campaign. There is but one way to preserve and perpetuate the great reforms, the great advances in righteousness and upright and fair dealing, which have marked the management of the affairs of the national government during the last seven years and that is by electing Taft. To defeat him will bring lasting satisfaction to but one set of men, namely to those men who, as shown in the correspondence published by Hearst, were behind Foraker, the opponent of Taft, within his own party and who now are behind Haskell and his associates, the opponents of Taft in the opposite party.

"Great and sinister moneyed interests which have shown such hostility to the administration and now in Taft, have grown to oppose the administration on various matters not connected with those which mark the real point of difference. For instance the entire agitation over the Brownsville affair was in a large part not a genuine agitation on behalf of the colored men at all, but merely a phase of an effort by representatives of certain law-defying corporations to bring discredit upon the administration because it was seeking to cut out the evils connected, not only with corrupt alliance between certain business men of large fortunes, but certain politicians of great offices."

"The venomous hostility of these interests and of their special representatives in public life and in the press to the nomination of Taft, was merely a natural sequence of their hostility to measures of the administration for regulation of great corporations doing interstate business, and to the attitude of the administration in consistently prosecuting all offenders of great wealth, precisely as it has prosecuted all other offenders."

"Taft has been nominated for the very reason that he is the antithesis of the forces that were responsible for Mr. Foraker." The president here quotes Taft's letter in which the latter refused to agree to the Ohio proposition: "I don't care for the presidency," said Taft in this letter, "if it has to come by a compromise with Foraker or any one else in the matter of principle. He has opposed the administration and in his opposition has seized upon and magnified an important but incidental matter to embarrass the administration, using in this, without scruple, a blind race prejudice to accomplish his main purpose."

Taft also cites Foraker's defiance of the Ohio legislature's request that he support the rate bill and declares that because he believes the principles maintained by Roosevelt and favored by the states and nation, but which Foraker opposed, he cannot acquiesce in the proposed compromise.

The president then continues: "I publish this letter without Taft's knowledge because it is my duty to the public that his attitude be known. The man who unhesitatingly resists temptation, who cannot be swayed by any consideration of personal interest from following the course which his lofty conception of duty dictates to him, a man whose whole concern is for the welfare of the people and who has proved in a lifetime of difficult and useful public service his extraordinary capacity as an administrator for regulation of great corporations doing interstate business, and to the attitude of the administration in consistently prosecuting all offenders of great wealth, precisely as it has prosecuted all other offenders."

"I appeal to all good citizens, to all high-minded, conscientious men who love their country for the sake of their country, to put such a man at its head."

Daily Thought.

It is as easy to do to things as it is to tell others how to do them.

Governor Johnston is not trying to rush Minnesota for Bryan. He is afraid that he might get defeated himself if he harps too much on a candidate that Minnesota twice rejected with great emphasis.

Mr. Hearst is clearly of the opinion that he would run better in 1912 without Bryan's support than with it.
This fact accounts for the failure of the recent negotiation.

By a new Hungarian invention 40,000 words an hour can be transmitted. Mr. Bryan's prospects for 1912 are brightening.

Uncle Joe's remarks on the importance of protection are vote-getting every time. The issue is paramount with millions of American wage-earners.

NOT POLITICALLY.

Mr. Bryan has been arrested for running too fast in Rhode Island.
The joke of it is that there is probably no part of the country in which Mr. Bryan is running slower than in that little state, says the Globe-Democrat. It sounds like irony to hear of a Bryan arrest in Rhode Island for fast running, but there is no getting around it. He was not locked up, for he and the other members of his automobile party were all able to give bond. Nobody has ever thought of arresting Mr. Bryan for running too fast in any of the central western states. We hear much of his breaking of his own running records, but there is no occasion for his arrest for the breaking of speed ordinances.
Even in Missouri, Mr. Bryan could make a hundred more revolutions to the mile and still be nowhere in sight of a prosecution for speeding. He is leaving large clouds of dust at the tail ends of his automobiles, but he is not running over anything, or away from anything, in this part of the country. Mr. Bryan may be running fast enough in Rhode Island to be stopped, just as he will be stopped almost anywhere in the north when he shows signs of doing more than raising a big dust and a loud snarl.

THE DROUGHT.

The great drought in the central states long ago ceased to be a thing for the cartoonists and funny men to joke about, says the Cincinnati Times-Star. With the smoke of forest fires hanging in the air of half a dozen states; with the land parched and thirsty; with the little streams drying up and the big streams getting smaller and, shallower; with stock suffering from lack of water in many parts of the country, and man himself altogether out of patience with smoke and dust and heat, it must be confessed that the drought has passed quite out of the sphere of the humorists.

Of course, the greatest property loss resulting from the dry weather of the past month has been that caused by the forest fires. It is said that the timber destroyed by forest fires this summer, if cut and sold, would have brought enough money to build two, possibly three, battleship fleets of the size and strength of that which Admiral Sperry is now commanding in the Pacific. That's a lot of money—and the worst of it is that the timber lost will be sadly needed before many years have passed.

The present drought is a terrible thing. The prayers of Americans for rain ought to be more general, if not more genuine and heartfelt, just now than they have been at any time for a good many years.

TRYING TO HOODWINK NEGROES

Democrats Pursuing Their Usual Double Faced Policy.

Upholding Disfranchisement in the South While Forming Colored Bryan Clubs in West.

From the Baltimore Sun, Dem.
General Winfield S. Hancock, who was the Democratic nominee for president in 1880, declared the tariff was principally a "local question"—that is to say, a Pennsylvania Democrat might be a protectionist for protec-tion's sake, while a Democrat in Georgia or in Iowa might hold fast to the doctrine of a tariff for revenue only.
The Massachusetts Democrat might be a free trader without reservation of any kind, while the West Virginia Democrat might be a free trader only with respect to commodities which were not produced by his own state.
General Hancock's pronouncement was considered an ingenious evasion of the tariff issue, but it did not produce harmony in the Democratic party, and the general was defeated.

Twenty-eight years have passed since General Hancock defined the tariff as a local question, upon which the Democrats of each state were free to act with regard chiefly to local interests. The principle which he then formulated seems to have been adopted by Democrats in the west in respect to the relation of the Democratic party to the negro. Last week the West Virginia Democratic convention embodied in its platform plank demanding certain qualifications for voters, designed to disfranchise many negroes. Their platform also contains a declaration in favor of separate coaches for white and negro passengers on railroads. The West Virginia Democrats not only refuse to hold out the olive branch to the negro and invite him into their fold, but they are determined to limit his political activity by a disfranchising law and to bring him under the operation of a "Jim Crow" law when he travels on the railroads of that state.

What Are the Promises?

Out in Nebraska and in Kansas the Democratic campaign managers are organizing negro voters into Bryan clubs. In Ohio no effort will be spared to secure the support of the negro voters for the Democratic national ticket. What pledges have been given and what inducements have been offered does not appear. But it is a fair inference that the managers have promised to do "something for the negro," perhaps to recognize him in the distribution of offices, if Mr. Bryan should be elected, and also to take such action as the negroes may demand in respect to the reinstatement of the negro battalion dismissed from the army by President Roosevelt for the attack on Brownsville. Last week when the West Virginia Democrats were declaring for a disfranchising law and for a "Jim Crow" law the Democratic convention in the Twelfth congressional district of Ohio adopted a platform favoring "the enactment of laws which shall accord to all men accused of wrongdoing, whether soldiers or civilians, a fair and impartial trial and an opportunity to be heard before conviction or punishment." This apparently refers to the Brownsville incident. It may also have a broader meaning and a more extended application and may be susceptible of an interpretation which will make southern Democrats open their eyes with amazement and possibly with apprehension.

Race Question "Local Issue?"

There seems to be no ground for reasonable doubt that the Democratic campaign managers in the west, in the effort to secure negro support for their national ticket, are acting upon the principle that the race question is only a "local issue." It is evident that the north does not approve this plan of campaign, but is powerless to check it.
The Democracy of the south is in full accord with the position taken by the West Virginia Democrats last week.
And yet it is assumed by those who are trying to get negroes to support Mr. Bryan that the south will act in hearty co-operation with the Ohio, Nebraska, Kansas and Illinois Democrats who are welcoming the negro into free fellowship in the Democratic party and promising to annul the decision of President Roosevelt in the Brownsville matter. The theory of western Democrats that the race problem is merely a local issue is calculated to give the south much concern.
Many Democrats in that section may question whether it is worth while to elect a Democratic president who may open wide the door of political opportunity to the negro.

"He is not so big a fool, this Armitage," remarked Durand. "He is quite deep, in fact. I wish it were he we were trying to establish on a throne and not that pitiful seneschal in Vienna."

"I gave him his chance down there in the valley, and he laughed at me. It is quite possible that he is not a fool and quite certain that he is not a coward."

"Then he would not be a safe king. Our young friend in Vienna is a good deal of a fool and altogether a coward. We shall have to provide him with a spine at his coronation."

"If we fail?" began Chauvenet.

"You suggest a fruitless but unpleasant topic. If we fail we shall be fortunate if we reach the hospitable shores of the Argentine for future residence. Paris and Vienna would not know us again. If Winkler succeeds in Vienna and we lose here, where do we arrive?"

"We arrive quite where Mr. Armitage chooses to land us. He is a gentleman of resources; he has money; he laughs cheerfully at misadventure; he has had you watched by the shrewdest eyes in Europe, and you are considered a hard man to keep track of, my dear Durand. And not least important, he has tonight snatched away that little cabalogram that was the signal to Winkler to go ahead. He is a very amusing and vexatious person, this Armitage. Even Zinal, whose knife made him a terror in Serbia, seems unable to cope with him."

"And the fair daughter of the valley?"

"Fish! We are not discussing the young lady."

"I can understand how unpleasant the subject must be to you, my dear Jules."

"What do you imagine she knows of M. Armitage? If he is the man we think he is, and a possible heir to a great throne, it would be impossible for her to marry him."

"His tastes are democratic. In Montana he is quite popular."

"Durand hung away his cigarette and laughed wistfully."

"It is occurred to you that this whole affair is decidedly amusing? Here we are in one of the free American states about to turn a card that will deprive a king if we are lucky. And here is a man we are trying to get out of the way—a man we might make king if he were not a fool! In America it touches my sense of humor, my dear Jules."

An exclamation from Zinal arrested them. The Serbian jerked up his horse, and they were instantly at his side. They had reached a point near the hunting preserve in the main highway. It was about half past 1 o'clock, an hour at which Virginia mountain roads are usually free of travelers, and they had been sending their horses along as briskly as the uneven roads and the pace of Zinal's lagged beast permitted.

The beat of a horse's hoofs could be heard quite distinctly in the road ahead of them. The road tended downward, and the strain of the ascent was marked in the approaching animal's walk. In a moment the three men heard the horse's quick snort of satisfaction as it reached level ground. Then, scenting the other animals, it threw up its head and neighed shrilly.

In the dusk of twilight Durand saw Zinal dismount and felt the Serbian's big, rough hand touch his in passing the handle of his horse.

"Wait!" said the Serbian.

The horse of the unknown paused, neighed again and refused to go farther. A man's deep voice encouraged him in low tones. The horses of Chauvenet's party danced about restlessly, responsive to the nervousness of the strange beast before them.

"Who goes there?"

The stranger's horse was quiet for an instant, and the rider had forced him so near that the beast's upreared head and the erect shoulders of the horseman were quite clearly defined.

"Who goes there?" shouted the rider, while Chauvenet and Durand bent their eyes toward him, their hands tight on their bridles, and listened, waiting for Zinal. They heard a sudden rush of steps, the impact of his giant body as he flung himself upon the shrinking horse, and then a cry of alarm and rage. Chauvenet slipped down and ran forward with the quick, soft glide of a cat and caught the bridle of the stranger's horse. The horseman struggled in Zinal's giant arms, and his beast plunged wildly. No words passed. The rider had kicked his feet out of the stirrups and gripped the horse hard with his legs. His arms were flung up to steady his head, over which Zinal threw his body.

"The knife!" bawled the Serbian.

"Not!" answered Chauvenet.

"The devil!" yelled the rider, and dug his spurs into the rearing beast's flanks.

Chauvenet held on valiantly with both hands to the horse's head. Once the frightened beast swung him clear of the ground. A few yards distant Durand sat on his own horse and held the bridles of the others. He soothed the restless animals in low tones, the light of his cigarette shaking oddly in the dark with the movement of his lips.

The horse ceased to plunge. Zinal held its rider erect with his left arm while the right drew the sack down over the head and shoulders of the prisoner.

"The him," said Chauvenet, and Zinal buckled a strap about the man's arms and bound them tight.

The dust in the bag caused the man inside to cough, but save for the one exclamation, he had not spoken. Chauvenet and Durand conferred in low tones while Zinal drew out a tether strap and snapped it to the curb bit of the captive's horse.

"The fellow takes it pretty coolly," remarked Durand, lighting a fresh cigarette. "What are you going to do with him?"

"We will take him to his own place—it is near—and coax the papers out of him. Then we'll find a preceptor and toss him over. It is a simple matter."

Zinal handed Chauvenet the revolver he had taken from the silent man on the horse.

"I am ready," he reported.

"Go ahead; we follow." And they started toward the bungalow, Zinal riding beside the captive and holding fast to the led horse. Where the road was smooth they sent the horses forward at a smart trot. But the captive accepted the gait. He found the stirrups snug and sat his saddle straight. He coughed now and then, but the lump sack was sufficiently porous to give him a little air. As they rode off his silent submission caused Durand to ask:

"Are you sure of the man, my dear Jules?"

"Undoubtedly. I didn't get a square look at him, but he's a gentleman by the quality of his clothes. He is the same build. It is not a plow horse."

They started, Zinal riding beside the captive.

but a thoroughbred he's riding. The gentlemen of the valley are in their beds long ago."

"Would that we were in ours! The spring nights are cold in these hills!"

"The work is nearly done. The little soldier is yet to reckon with. But we are three, and Zinal did quite well with the potato sack."

GOOD DRAINAGE REQUISITE OF GOOD ROADS IS PROVED

With an average of 27,000 tons of water falling in the form of rain on each mile of public road in the United States annually, it is scarcely to be marvelled at that the ten commandments of the road builder can be summed up succinctly in the word "drainage."

The saying has truth for a basis. As road drainage is the primary requisite for all roads. Even in sand roads this holds true. For these "good drainage" means such as will safely remove the storm water without erosion, gulching and still retain the surface moisture.

To secure good drainage one must take into consideration both the surface water and the underground water. The surface water must be removed quickly and completely and with subjecting the road to excessive scour or erosion. For this reason, the center of the road should be raised and the slope towards the side ditches should be from 1/4 to 1 inch to each foot distance, or for that the water may run freely to the side ditches and not flow down the road or remain in puddles on the roadway. The side ditches should be of ample size to carry the severest storms and a fall of not less than 1/4 inch to each 100 feet. Frequent and ample cross drains should be constructed and every opportunity taken to get the water away from the road as quickly as possible. Any road along which you see water standing in the side ditches or in which puddles of water have collected, or which has been badly galled and eroded by the rains, has poor drainage and is in need of immediate attention. In fact earth roads nearly always require a little attention after each rain. The spotting drag is essentially a tool to maintain good drainage on our earth roads, and should be used after each rain. On a heavy clay or gumbo soil the drag, when properly used tends to puddle the road surface, keep it free from ruts, dense, smooth and hard, thus securing the best surface drainage possible.

But in many places the underground water is too near the surface and must be removed before a good road will be possible. This means that some form of sub-drainage must be resorted to, usually the drains of clay or concrete. Water from whatever source must be gotten rid of effectively, for water plus clay or gumbo invariably equals mud when mixed in spring and summer. Water becomes ice in winter and as water in freezing expands one eighth its volume, the road heaves out of shape and when the ice melts the road disappears beneath the rising tide of mud constantly fed by rains, melting snows and underground spring.

In deep and boggy places the sub-drainage in order to be fully effective should lower the water level to not less than three feet below the road surface. If tiles are used they should be carefully laid, true to grade. Most failures in the drainage can be attributed to carelessness in laying, or too flat grade. The less than 4 inches in diameter should

PRIZE OF LAMARTINE'S POEM.

Prize of Lamartine's Poem. French Poet Put Upon His Work.

The laurel tells a good story of Lamartine's estimate of the pecuniary value of his poetry.

It was in 1848, when he was at the apex of his glory and a cabinet minister. He had just contributed "La Marseillaise de la Paix" to the Revue des Deux Mondes, and he on the editor called on him at the ministry. "I believe I owe you 80 pounds. Here is the money," said Lamartine, producing a bundle of banknotes. "Pray deduct the amount of the Revue's indebtedness to you for your poem," said the editor.

"I meant to make you a present of it," rejoined the poet.

"Not at all, I insist upon paying you."

"How much?"

"Your own price, whatever it may be."

"Ah, well, if you will, have it as I must oblige you," said Lamartine, and with a magnificent gesture he swept up the bundle of notes representing the 80 pounds and restored them, with solemn dignity, to his pocket. A wonderer gazette.

Damage by rats, mice and rabbits aggregates $100,000,000 each year, it is estimated by the Department of Agriculture experts. The bulk of the damage is in the cities, one department store here reporting recently a loss from rats amounting to about $24 a night. In the country districts the mice do an immense amount of damage to orchards, young trees and garden crops, but the king of the pests is the rabbit.

The department of agriculture has been experimenting on rabbit-proof fencing, trapping and poisoning, and finds that the three methods are all good, but have to be selected with reference to particular localities.—New York World.

Conflicting Testimony in Case—Reed Admitted He Had Been Drinking Freely.

Charged with breach of peace, Sam Everts, who is also charged with robbing the safe of the Bandana bank, was fined $20 and costs this morning in police court by Special Judge Oscar Kahn. Everts and companions were drinking last week and it is alleged in Jones' saloon that B. Reed threatened Everts. Reed denied that he had a knife, while Everts and his companions swear that he did. Reed admitted that he was drinking. On South Fourth street, near the alley, Everts alleges that Reed started to cut him and he knocked him down and then kicked him to make him release the knife. Witnesses for the prosecution and Reed swore that Everts knocked him down and that Reed was kicked in the head by Everts. Police Judge Cross was a witness and Attorney Oscar Kahn was appointed special judge. After weighing the evidence Everts was fined $20 and costs.

FOOT BALL.

Felix St. John, of the Clubbites, is suffering from a bad knee, but expects to be in the game next week. John Donovan is laid up with a bad foot caused by stubbing his toe. His physicians do not think that there is much danger of his losing the valuable member.

An all important query is, "Who has the park Thanksgiving day?" If you see a young man on the street limping don't ask him if he has been practicing football. We know he has.

Colonel Henry Diehl has been appointed mascot of the C. C. W. team. He says that he weighs 302 in the shade. Colonel Henry expects to root his team to victory every time.

The P. A. C. football team was out for practice last night at Bridge and Clements streets and two hours of light practice was indulged in. Coach Burns was there all the time and showed the players a few things. Signals were given to the men last night and Wednesday night the next practice, signal work will begin.

A full line up was presented at the practice and a few of the squad are moving around a little stiff today, but are in high spirits because they think they have the winning team this year.

Of Use After All.

It happened once upon a time that a man who felt that he was of no use in the world decided to commit suicide. "I will kill myself," he said, "and there will be no more of me." So he hid home and found his wife gone. "I will cut my throat," he said, and he went to the kitchen and took a knife. But he slashed and hacked and slashed his throat and the knife was so dull he couldn't penetrate his skin. Then he tried the bread knife and it was duller than the butcher knife. "I will hit myself on the head with the ax," he said, but he looked and looked and couldn't find the ax. Finally he found the handle but the head was lost. "I will try the saw," he said; but after he found the saws couldn't cut through his head to give it up. Then a bright thought struck him; he would become of some use to the family by sharpening the knives and saws. He did so, and is now loved more than most men. And his wife, with knives that will cut and saws sharp enough to cut thread, is the happiest woman in her neighborhood.—Atchison Globe.

"BRYAN CAN DO NO HARM."

A Frequent Statement That Will Not Bear Analysis.

The apologetic Democrat who wants to remain regular and who has swallowed Bryanism takes time to repeat as often as he is accused of inconsistency that Mr. Bryan can do no harm even if he is elected. It is time that this statement was met and smashed. Mr. Bryan if elected could and would do a great deal of harm in so many ways that it is almost impossible to enumerate them. In the first place, he would have an opportunity during his term to pack the supreme court, and no one doubts that he would so pack it that the confidence of the American people in its greatest institution would be lost or severely shattered.

Mr. Bryan would appoint a cabinet from his friends and not from his enemies, and it must be admitted that the best men in the Democratic party are not close friends of Mr. Bryan. He would appoint judges and district attorneys throughout the country who would carry out his designs as far as possible, but the greatest harm of all that could come upon the people through the election of Mr. Bryan would be the loss of confidence in honest men, and the probable stagnation that would come over the country and remain for four years at least.

There is no measuring this blight that would come to our nation through the election of William J. Bryan. We endured it from 1883 to 1886 under a Democratic president of far sadder views and much more stable character than the present Democratic candidate for president. Mr. Bryan as a weather vane would be a great source of trouble to our country. He would not be a failure, but failure would come to every American institution and every American industrial center.

A "tariff for revenue only" means a general reduction of wages. There is no possible alternative.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are for weak back, backache, rheumatic pains, inflammation of the bladder and all other annoyances due to weak kidneys. They are sold by all druggists.

Campaign Funds.

"We welcome Mr. Taft to this advanced ground," said Mr. Bryan in one of his numerous interviews since the Denver convention. The ground referred to is Mr. Taft's statement that campaign contributions would be received from corporations. Mr. Bryan intended to convey the impression that Mr. Taft had come to that determination after the Denver convention. In that the Democratic "poorhouse" is not honest, Mr. Taft is a law-abiding citizen. Such contributions are unlawful, made so by a law passed by a Republican congress at the instance of a Republican administration of which Judge Taft was a part six months before the Denver convention. He honest, Mr. Bryan, if you can!

HAS OFFICIATED AT 1,000 WEDDINGS IN 25 YEARS.

New York, Sept. 22.—The Rev. Gottlieb Andrus, pastor of the German Reform church, of Jersey City, will perform his one-thousandth wedding ceremony next Wednesday. Andrus is said to have officiated at more weddings than any other minister in New Jersey. The fees that he has received are said to have paid the tuition and expenses of his son and daughter at college. He has been pastor of the church for about 25 years.

Objections to a Duel. In Clyde Fitch's large collection of autographs there is one that he values more than a letter of the eccentric and brilliant jurist, H. H. Breckinridge, on duelling.

Breckinridge, a youth at the time, replied to the challenge of a British officer with this amusing letter. He said:

"I have two objections to this duelling matter—the one is, least should hurt you; the other is, least you should hurt me. I don't see what good it would do to put a ball through your body. I could make no use of you dead for any culinary purpose as I would a rabbit or turkey. I am no cannibal to feed upon the flesh of men. Why, then, shoot down a human creature, of whom I can make no use? A buffalo would be better. You might make a good barbecue. It is true, being of the nature of a raccoon or opossum; but people are not in the habit of barbecuing anything that is human now. As to your,

Announcement

To All Users of Heating Stoves in Paducah

We want to announce that we have received word from the Cole Manufacturing Co. of Chicago that we may sell their marvelous Cole's Hot Blast Heater on the most remarkable guarantee basis ever made by a heating stove manufacturer.

Please read the statement just as made to us by the President of the Cole Manufacturing Co.

Read What Mr. Cole Says:

"You are authorized to sell the Original Cole's Hot Blast Heater this year on the most right guarantee ever made by any stove manufacturer. Our guarantee to every customer of yours is—

- "1—A saving of one-third in fuel over any lower draft stove of the same size, with soft coal, slack or lignite.
- "2—That Cole's Hot Blast will use less hard coal for heating a given space than any base burner made with same size fire pot.
- "3—That the rooms can be heated from one to two hours each morning with the soft coal or hard coal put in the stove the evening before.
- "4—That the stove will hold fire with soft coal from Saturday night until Monday morning.
- "5—A uniform heat day and night with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.
- "6—That every stove will remain absolutely air-tight as long as used.
- "7—That the feed-door is and will remain smoke and dust-proof.

"All we ask is that the stove shall be operated according to directions and set up with a good flue."

"(Signed) COLE MANUFACTURING CO., (Makers of the Original Patented Hot Blast Stove.)"

This is a wonderful guarantee to users of heating stoves. It is just what our customers want and is a guarantee from one of the great manufacturers and puts us in the lead of all dealers.

We know Cole's Hot Blast from A to Z.

It is the Original Hot Blast Stove now initiated by so many other manufacturers. It is the patented features giving an everlasting air-tight and gas-tight construction and the patented Hot Blast draft as Cole uses it, burning the waste gases in the coal that makes Cole's Hot Blast the greatest fuel saver ever known, while fuel bills fall.

We know you are sold every year. The biggest selling heater made by all odds.

It is a wonder. It has proved by years of use that no heater at twice the price approaches it for radiating heat, for holding fire, requiring so little care, never giving trouble—and cutting down the coal bill one-third to one-half.

And the price of heat for the winter is what determines the cost of a stove. Remember that.

Right here we want to say that

Our Price of Cole's Original Hot Blast is $10 and upward, according to size.

Please remember, readers, that we are guaranteeing this stove against any heater, size for size, at any price.

At $10.50 we guarantee our 18-inch diameter Cole's Hot Blast just as stated in the letter from Cole Manufacturing Co. We sell all sizes, price according to size.

The season's use will cut your fuel bill in two and give you satisfaction such as you never believed possible with a heater. Will you come in and see?

Second-Story Hill, the Plous burglar,

"Hush!" whispered Second-Story Hill, in a low, guttural voice as a sound from the downstairs room fell upon his ears. "Drop them tools, Jake. I hear some one moving around in the back."

Jake immediately dropped the kit to the floor with a loud clang.

"Who's there?" came a startled voice from the other room.

"My heavens! this is awful!" moaned Second-Story Hill, dashing a tear from his eye. "He asks me who I am, and I promised my mother I would never let 'Ah, well," he added, with a heartrending sigh, "a promise is a promise, and I will keep mine."

Then he called aloud:

"I am Second-Story Hill, the Plous burglar."

There was a cry of joy from the other room, and in the open doorway the figure of a man appeared, a smile upon his face, and his hand outstretched in welcome.

"I am the president of this institution," he explained. "I was afraid you were the receiver, but, thank heaven, you are only a plain burglar. We may be able to arrange a settlement that will leave something for the depositions."

And hand in hand they went at the rate together—John Kendrick flings in Success Magazine.

S.S.S. A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood, which is carried through the circulation to all portions of the system. Every muscle, nerve, bone and joint absorbs the acid, pain-producing poison, causing aches, inflammation, stiffness and other well known symptoms of the disease. Permanent relief from the pains and discomfort of Rheumatism cannot be expected from the use of liniments, plasters, and other external treatment which does not reach the blood, where the cause is located. Such measures give temporary relief, but in order to cure Rheumatism the uric acid and inflammatory poison must be expelled from the blood. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism because it is a perfect blood purifier. It goes down into the circulation, neutralizes the uric acid and drives it from the blood. S. S. S. expels the irritating, inflammatory matter which is causing the pain, swelling and other discomfort, enriches the weak, sour blood, and permanently cures Rheumatism. In all forms of Rheumatism, whether acute or chronic, S. S. S. will be found a safe, vegetable remedy, possessing the properties needed to cure, and at the same time a medicine that builds up the entire system by its tonic effects. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

CONVENTION OF NEGRO BAPTIST

Three Thousand Gather at Lexington, Ky.

Dr. Boyd, One of the Most Remarkable of His Race, Delivers Splendid Address.

FUNERAL OF REV. HAWKINS

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 22.—Three thousand negro Baptists who are here attending the annual session of the national Baptist convention listened to an address and report from Dr. R. F. Boyd, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn., secretary of the national publishing board and the home mission board of the convention. He was given an ovation.

Dr. Boyd is one of the most remarkable men of his race in the United States. He was born a slave, and claims to be a graduate of "Swamp University," which is the practical school of experience. Twelve years ago he was called from the pastorate by the national Baptist convention and elected to his present position located in Nashville. He went into the city without a dollar, started the printing interest which is today the largest negro printing house in the world. In his address he said:

"This is an age where every man who desires to be and do something has the opportunity, and any man who falls in this country has no one to blame but himself, and I do not hesitate to say this. The south is full of opportunities for my people, and I am anxious to see them take hold."

Do Not Complain.
"At your orders twelve years ago, I left Texas and went to Nashville to do what many considered an impossible task, and so often man has failed because he failed to try. We sit around and complain too much about the white man, instead of going to work and doing for ourselves. Color will never stand in the way of push and pluck, industry, honesty and thrift, and the sooner we learn this the better it will be for us."

"We have attempted to encourage our young people, because while I am not a college graduate myself, I have been able to make places for many of them and employed them to do the work I have endeavored to show the young people that there are many openings for them, but they will have to leave the cradle, stop so much 'good time' and use the nights for rest, study to business."

"When I entered Nashville I was warmly received by the white people as well as my own people, and today I get the very best treatment from the white people in that city. I have only to attend to my own business, but I am getting off too far because you are here to hear the report and to see what we have been doing this year."

Twelve Years' Work.
"We bring before you this year a report of the work done for the twelve years of our existence. In submitting this report, the board begs to state that it finds from twelve years' experience that the older the board grows the better its work becomes known among the Baptists throughout the United States, or we would perhaps better say, through out the world. It has become to be regarded by others in a different light from what it was a few years ago. At first its existence was unknown and unnoticed by other similar plants except an occasional scornful laugh and a prediction that it would not exist, but today the national Baptist publishing board is carefully watched as a competitor, and no allowance is made for its inexperience or financial inability. It is regarded in the commercial world as purely a commercial institution, and is required to meet strictly even commercial obligation. Its obligations, its debts, its papers and its guarantees must all be strictly complied with. We are glad to report that notwithstanding our inexperience, we have gone thus far without legal drafts, notes or checks protested, and have been able to hold our reputation in the commercial world; our credit is excellent and our paper stands."

Depends on His Own Effort.
Rev. C. H. Clark, D. D., of Nashville, was the next speaker. "What the negro will be in this country," he said, "depends on his own effort. A race will never make much headway in this or any other country by sitting down waiting for others to lift it up or carry its burdens. We must do for ourselves. I have never fought any color against me, and it has never given me any trouble. It is the lazy, loafing members of my race who give me the most concern. An intelligent, Christian, industrious man or woman is an asset to any community. Reach the young negro, make him go to work and you will accomplish something and get the respect of all the better class of white people."

The convention has brought to Lexington the largest number of negroes ever seen in the city. The addresses during the week have been conservative and full of inspiration. Among the distinguished visitors was Dr. R. F. Boyd, of Nashville. Rev. S. E. Griggs captured an audience of nearly 5,000 people Thursday night in a common sense, conservative discussion of the race problem. The funeral of the Rev. J. W. Hawkins, who died on Wednesday morning, took place in the Auditorium. He was pastor of the largest negro Baptist church in the city and was active on the local committee until he dropped dead Wednesday morning.

Elective Franchise Plank.
Believing that the extension of the elective franchise to a race inferior in intelligence and without preparation for the wise and prudent exercise of a privilege so vital to the maintenance of good government was a mistake if not a crime committed by the Republican party during the reign of passion and prejudice following the civil war, we declare that the Democratic party is in favor of no amending the constitution as to preserve the purity of the ballot and the electorate of the state from the evil results from conferring such power and privilege upon those who are unfitted to appreciate its importance, as it affects the stability and preservation of good government.

REASON FOR CONVERSION.

Why the Baltimore Sun Decided to Support Taft.

[From the Baltimore Sun, Dec 1]
It is our deliberate judgment that for the next four years the material interests of the people of this country would be safer with Mr. Taft at the head of the national government than with Mr. Bryan. We further believe that, while lawbreakers would be brought to account by Mr. Taft with as little fear or favor as Mr. Bryan could display, the methods employed by Mr. Taft would not curtail the workingman's opportunities for employment by disturbing the business of law abiding men and corporations as has been witnessed in the last few years.

Mr. Taft's experience in important administrative posts, his judicial temperament, his patience and thoroughness in investigation, justify the belief that as president he would execute the law faithfully and well, but not spectacularly. And, while this type of man ought to be in the White House all the time, he seems to be especially needed now, when the country is emerging from an industrial and financial depression which brought distress and suffering into many homes.

No weather vane for president. Our chief magistracy should have settled views, sound principles and honest methods.

Kodol will, without doubt, make your stomach strong and will almost instantly relieve you of all the symptoms of indigestion. Get a bottle of it today. It is sold here by all druggists.

Hearts Song.
I'm gettin' very old now;
My daughter's heart is wide;
They buried Michael yesterday,
That sat the other side.

It's "Children, hush your playin'
An' leave your granny be!"
But it's just your name I'm sayin',
For that sounds sweet to me.

The first time ever I saw you,
It was at Kinet Fair;
The ribbon that I had was blue,
And blue is gay to wear.

An'—you've been dead this forty year
An' Michael but a day,
But it is not Michael's name I hear
When the children think I pray.

I'm gettin' very old now,
My daughter's heart is wide;
They buried Michael yesterday,
An' I'll lie by his side.

CHILDREN FALL

FROM SECOND STORY WINDOW AND BADLY INJURED.

Were Sitting With Backs Against a Screen Which Suddenly Gave Away.

Mildred and Richard Lindsey, aged 4 and 6 years, children of Mr. H. R. Lindsey, president of the board of councilmen, were badly injured Monday afternoon when they tumbled out backwards from the second-story window of their home, Twenty-third and Trimble streets.

Mildred was seated in the upstairs window with her back against a screen looking at a picture book. Richard came in and sat beside her. Unconscious of their danger the two children leaned against the screen, which broke under the weight and they fell out. The children pitched out backwards to the ground, 20 feet below.

Mildred sustained a dislocation of the left arm and shoulder and suffered concussion of the brain. Richard was only bruised over the body, but was knocked unconscious for some time. Mrs. Lindsey was attracted to the yard by their screams and at once telephoned Dr. Sights, who attended the children.

Today the little boy and girl were resting well and no serious results are expected. Both are suffering greatly from the fall. It is remarkable that both were not fatally injured.

SEASON OPENS AT
KENTUCKY OCT. 5

With May Stewart in "As You Like It."

Many Splendid Attractions Have Been Booked and Few Open Dates Remain.

SOME OF THE GOOD ONES

Monday, October 5, the season at the Kentucky theater will open with one of the best attractions ever in the city with May Stewart in the Shakespearian play "As You Like It." After the classical play there will be a string of musical comedies introduced that will be well received enough for the taste of Paducah theatergoers. As yet there are some open dates in the books, but the managers believe that they will be able to book many shows after the real season has opened, as shows are constantly changing their circuits. In fact the owners are corresponding with some of the biggest shows on the road with a view of bringing them to Paducah.

After the opening at H. Wilson the popular singer will come with a sparkling new play "When Old New York Was Dutch." Wilson is a popular favorite and has won applause from Paducah audiences regularly. Fannie Rice in "The Hall," one of the best shows on the road has been booked, as well as Horstine Nelson in "Monna Venua," one of the big plays. "Fifty Miles From Boston" will be one of the best comic operas, as will "Sunborn Cinderella." "Paid in Full," one of the big comic operas that set Chicago wild, has been booked for the season. Mary Emerson, a popular favorite, will appear in "Under the Greenwood Tree," and Florence Gear will appear in "Marrying Mary," one of the big city hits.

In the industrial Al G. Field is the leader with several other black face artists to follow. For the boys

"Peck's Bad Boy" will show. Adelaide Thurston will appear, but the play has not been selected. "The Itals," with Joseph and William Jefferson in the leading roles has been secured, and the duo splitter "The Honey Mooner," which was written by George M. Cohan, and is certain to be one of the best. Paul Gilmore, a regular favorite, will appear with a new college play, and Tim Murphy has not forgotten Paducah either.

Other plays that have been looked are: "Hester Brown," "The Real Widow Brown," "The Toy Maker," "Kismet for a Day," "The Yankee Doodle Girl," and "Isle of Hades," with Connie Ward as the chief comedian. "Child of Mr. Three of us," Several stock companies are on the hooks.

Northern Backett in "The Chiss Mates," a pretty new play. In one of the prominent roles will be Mrs. Flora Mae Clark, but off the stage known as Mrs. James Young, a Paducah girl. Another thrilling play is "Under Two Flags," which will have a capable company with W. A. Whitecar in the leading role.

Viewed from any angle the year at the Kentucky theater should be a successful one. Lower rates have been secured from the railroads for the theatrical troupes traveling in the south this year, and many higher rates at Paducah may be booked, last year the three cent mileage with the long jumps between the southern cities kept the large troupes from booking in the south, and confined them to the north. At a meeting of the managers of southern theaters the difficulty was remedied, and it is hoped to pull most of the big shows south. Messrs. Carney & Goodman have been as fortunate as any managers around this section, and it is stated have a higher class of bookings than Cairo.

Moving pictures have held sway at the Kentucky theater this summer, but before the season is opened the house will be given a thorough cleaning and made as neat as a new pin. All of the electric wiring in the house has been gone over, and practically rewired to make it safe in every respect. A new switch board has been installed, which makes the lighting part the latest. This year the regular season was not preceded by bookings of small shows, and when the doors are thrown open it will be to good shows.

CRIMINAL COURT
BEGINS MONDAY

Many Important Cases on the Docket.

Will Hornsby Charged With Attempted Criminal Assault Will Be Given Hearing.

TWO MURDERERS FACE JURY.

Judge William Reed will convene the September term of criminal court next Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the county court house. Two face trials for their life, Charlie Lee Hill and George Freeman, two negroes. Probably the most conspicuous case that will draw crowds to court is that of Will Hornsby, a negro, who was recently held over to the circuit court grand jury on a charge of attempting to rape little Nita Powell, the twelve-year-old daughter of A. L. Powell, of 1911 South Fifth street, a carrier for the Paducah postoffice. Hornsby crept into the bedroom of the little girl early one Sunday morning several weeks ago but was detected by the girl's father before he had accomplished his fiendish purpose. He escaped after a chase but was caught the next day.

He was taken to Louisville where he is now held in jail to await trial. This case will come before the grand jury on the first day and the jurors will take quick action. He will be indicted and probably tried the third day. If Hornsby is guilty of rape he faces a capital punishment and if he is not he may be given a life term in the penitentiary.

Another interesting case is that of Al Heaton, an engineer, charged with maliciously shooting Harkdale Manning, a bartender at Harkdale's saloon several months ago. H. E. Hubbard charged with converting money of the firm of Rhodes-Turford to his own use, will also be tried. Hubbard is out on bond. He was employed as a collector for Rhodes-Turford and took several hundred dollars belonging to the firm.

The entire docket is full of interesting cases and will be disposed of as rapidly as possible. A number of keepers of bawdy resorts are charged with nuisance. Two are charged with selling liquor without a license.

Upon convening court Judge Reed will at once expound the grand jury and send them to work. The grand jurors will be empaneled. Tuesday and the docket entered on. The grand jury will make speedy work and a number of sensational indictments are looked for.

Planned to Raid Clarksville. Was in council three times prior to the Clarksville raid about such attack, but didn't go with them. Said Dr. Amos was shot in the raid. Was a member of the Cedar Grove lodge, in Taylor county. He was planned to be made up of men from Robertson and Montgomery counties, and the reason they didn't come to this city was because they couldn't get in the town on account of the way it was guarded. They made a second effort to organize for the Clarksville raid. He went out to other lodges than his own and they were all organized for the same purpose. Said the password was "silent brigade." When they would meet a member, the first speaker would say, "I see he's been there," and if he was a night rider, he would answer, "Yes, on my hended knees." All the members were masked on the roads and wore a white cloth passed over the shoulder. Other officers of the organization were captains, sergeants and lieutenants. Witness had of several raids in which he had participated. Witnesses were used for disguise. Witness joined the organization to expose it, and imparted his information to the county judge and prosecuting attorney of his county. He is in Taylor county and moved to Louisville. Said in case of trouble it was agreed that all members would shoot each other.

Hard of death of Vaughn Bennett the next day. That Dr. Amos reported the matter to his lodge, saying they had lost one man, two or three others shot and two horses were killed. That the first lodge was organized by Dr. Amos at a school house in Robertson county. Witness knew Hill Sims, of Caldwell county, who was a member. Said the captain would attend to small raids, and the raids on towns was in charge of the general. Dr. Amos told witness people were like dogs, and had to be driven into the association.

Other witnesses testified along the same lines, tracks and Stevens being self-confessed night riders. Henry Bennett was a tobacco buyer, and told of a conversation with Hill Sims, in which he told of a raid being planned on Clarksville and Hopkinsville. The count ruled out all such evidence as being irrelevant to the case, and the defense took exception to the ruling.

Wish Tests of Whipping. H. H. Sory, one of the Steele tobacco buyers, who has testified conspicuously in the case, witnesses having said that they acted in nearly every instance upon Sory's suggestions, was placed on the stand, and the state objected to the line of questions propounded him, and during the absence of the jury a number of questions relative to the general conditions existing in the black patch, which the court has not ruled on, count adjourning.

During the morning, John Gardner, one of the defendants, was cross-examined. No new matter was brought out, the defendant going over his original testimony, telling how he left Clarksville, where he went and how he was fired upon by the men in the road.

James Welsh, one of the men who was whipped on the night of the kidnapping, it is claimed, by another band of night riders, was on the stand, as was his wife. They testified to having been visited by a band of twenty-five or thirty men, and about forty shots being fired prominently; that they took James Welsh from the house and whipped him. A letter received by Welsh, before the whipping, threatening him, was read to the jury. It claimed he had been sprung for the "bill killing."
